

Wolvercote Commoners'

NEWSLETTER June 2019

We had a Spring Poem – so what about a Summer one?

By popular demand we would like to continue our series of seasonal poems.

So, if you would like to contribute one for our August newsletter just email a copy to medesign@ntlworld.com

As we expect a deluge of poems we will enlist a panel of 'accomplished poets' to make the selection.

Don't be shy as we can publish it ANON if you like. There's no prize, or book deal, just fame!

What's great about Port Meadow?
This is!

How important are our birds, flowers and insects?

For those interested or concerned about our fauna and flora the Ashmolean is holding an evening talk:

Farmland Birds Insects & Wild Flowers A case for joined-up thinking?

Tuesday July 2nd
8.00 – 9.15pm at
St Margaret's Institute
30 Polstead Road, Oxford

Speaker

Dr Alan Larkman

Dr Larkman's main interest is the precipitous decline in UK's small seed-eating farmland birds over the last 50 years.
